

Mackenzie Renzelman
Junior Division Medicine & Health
Do Poppy Seeds Affect Drug Tests

The reason for this project is to see if poppy seeds affect the readings of a common drug test. The reason I wanted to do this project is my uncle works for the military and has to take all kinds of drug test. Many government jobs make their employees test variety of drug test. Some people get fired or don't even have a chance of a job because even though they have never done drugs in their life test positive for a variety of drugs. This study will show if you eat a poppy seed will it affect the drug test. The first step was to make the fake urine then to crush 1 gram of poppy seeds then mix the poppy seeds and fake urine together for about 5 minutes. Then strain the poppy seeds from the fake urine. Then dip the drug test into the urine. Then record data. Continue this for 72 hours. The poppy seeds did affect the drug test